Board of Trade To Press For Attention To Pass Highway

Coleman Board of Trade to Sponsor Pass Meeting And Discuss Proposals to Attract The Department of Public Works' Attention to This Stretch of Highway.

Coleman Board of Trade will once again take the lead in the Pass in a strong effort to have Edmonton realize the importance of completing the Pincher-Crows Nest No. 3 highway which is also part of the southern Trans-Canada Highway. At an executive meeting of the Board last Thursday chairman Percy Dickson was empowered to call a meeting of all interested parties at which time a full discussion would be given the subject.

During the past several years the local Board of Trade has sent letters and wires of protest to Edmonton and have secured the co-operation of other Pass organizations to do likewise. The proposal to send a delegation to Edmonton to meet highway officials will be given serious consideration. Two years ago the late Hon. W. A. Fallow was a guest of the Coleman Board and while he did not commit himself during his address he did go so far as to say that he had surveyed on the Pincher-Crow highway at that time and that had he not some improvement in mind he most certainly would not permit them to work on that particular assignment since there was so much work to be done throughout the province.

Last year at Nelson John Blackmore, M.P., speaking for Alberta, stated that Alberta would complete its southern Trans-Canada highway by 1950. To make such a statement Mr. Blackmore undoubtedly had received verification from Edmonton.

Too Long has the Crows Nest Pass been suffering the hardships of a pioneer trail between it and the rest of the province.

Too long has Edmonton, either through ignorance or spite, ignored this important stretch of highway which is the only 12 months a year highway which remains open to connect Alberta highways with eastern B.C. and the western United States.

A strong protest will undoubtedly emanate from the forthcoming meeting. It is to be hoped that Edmonton will at long last take heed and complete the fifty mile stretch from Pincher Creek to Crows Nest.

OLD FRIENDS MEET AFTER 25 YEARS

During her recent visit to Calgary to attend the Rebekah convention, Mrs. Jack Nash was joyously surprised to meet an old friend, Mrs. A. Maile, of Springhill, Nova Scotia. They had last met in Nova Scotia twenty-five years ago.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my friends and relatives for the cards, flowers and gifts sent to me during my recent stay in the hospital. Also Drs. Brayton, Aello and Lelsemer and the nursing staff for their kind treatment and attention.

Fears of West Coleman Floods Engage Attention of Council

Regular meeting of Town Council was held in the Council Chambers, Tuesday evening, March 22. Present were, Mayor Abbotsfay and Councilors Ramsey, Dutil, Wood, Jenkins, Dibble and Nicholas. The Mayor reported on his recent trip to Calgary where he attempted to interview officials of the Calgary Breweries re the Grand Union Hotel sewerage problem but had been unable to contact Mr. Vernon. After hearing his report Council passed a motion to telephone Mr. Vernon and ask him to come down to Coleman as soon as possible.

Dangers of floods in the West Coleman area next occupied the Council's attention and fears were expressed that unless dredging operations were conducted in McGillivray Creek in addition to other precautions, such as the erection of a temporary dam to divert and check the heavy flow there was great danger of a serious situation developing in the area concerned. After lengthy discussion it was regularly moved that McGillivray Creek Coal and Coke Co. and the Public Works Department be contacted immediately and their attention drawn to the precautionary proposals outlined by the Council.

Mr. S. Bell, of the Union Tractor Co. then addressed the meeting on the various types of Universal Tractor-Loaders now available and distributed illustrated folders of the machines in question.

Following his departure a short but animated discussion revealed a distinct cleavage of opinion as to the necessity of purchasing one of these machines at this time. It was decided to turn the matter over to the Finance and Works Property Committee for further discussion.

The Parks Committee was instructed to assist the Sports Association in every possible way to get the Tennis Courts levelled and ready for use this year, also it was decided to carry out certain changes for the general improvement of the Park area.

The Works Property Committee was instructed to review the situation in connection with improvements to the Cemetery and adjacent area.

Following the completion of general business Council went over the budget for the coming year with a fine tooth comb. (Details of the budget will be published next week.)

Coleman-Kananaskis Road Work Planned For This Summer

Tenders For Forest Highway To Be In By April 9; Work to Start Soon After.

Tenders for the construction of a main trunk road between Coleman and Kananaskis were called Friday by John Harvie, deputy provincial minister of lands and mines, Edmonton.

Deadline for tenders to be in the hands of the provincial government is April 9 and construction work will begin as soon as possible after that date. J. D. Middlemas, secretary of the Eastern Rocky Mountains Forest Conservation Board, announced. The road is being constructed by the board to facilitate movement of firefighting equipment in forest reserves in the area, and to permit the board to carry out its work of reforestation.

Survey of the proposed route was carried out last summer and actual construction work will be able to proceed as soon as snow conditions in the mountains permit.

Maj.-Gen Howard Kennedy of Ottawa, chairman of the board, met this morning with J. M. Wardle, director of special projects for the Federal Department of Mines and Resources, the Dominion government board member and H. G. Jensen, provincial representative of the board, to discuss plans for work this summer.

Necessary equipment for activities has been obtained and the program of work laid out.

Bellevue Bunny Bonspiel To Be Held April 15, 16, 17, 18.

Eight Sheets Of Ice For Easter Curling Clinic; Entry Fees, 512 Per Rank

After the advent of warm spring weather had threatened to force the sponsors to forget all about it due to the high cost of maintaining ice for late season curling, the Bellevue Curling Club taking heart from the return of a cold snap announced this week that their annual Easter Bunny Bonspiel will be staged on April 15, 16, 17 and 18.

There will be eight sheets of artificial ice and this guarantees each rink a minimum of five games. There were fifty-six entries for last year's 'Spiel' and this year's entry list will likely top that record. Entry fee has been set at $12 per rink and curlers are urged to send in their entries as soon as possible to M. D. McEachern, secretary of the Bellevue Curling Club.

A.M.A. WILL PREPARE 125,000 ROAD MAPS

Preparations for a tourist flood to Alberta this year are being made by various organizations, particularly the Alberta Motor Association, which has branches in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge.

Inquiries from travel agencies already indicate that there is a new interest along U.S. holiday seekers in travel possibilities in Alberta and the north country. Many of these inquiries have been received at A.M.A. offices.

In order to help meet demands, the A.M.A. will issue and distribute an estimated 125,000 "strip" or sectional road maps.

These will give information concerning road conditions in all parts of the province. They will be up-to-date in every particular, giving data on type of road, mileage, hotels, lake resorts, garages and filling stations that are A.M.A. official appointments and much other useful information welcomed by the motor tourist.

The A.M.A. also is to issue shortly 20,000 revised new Alaska highway booklets, giving the latest information concerning traveling conditions accommodations and other details concerning this great tourist attraction.

BLUEBIRDS MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE OF SEASON

The road to be built this summer eventually will be used by tourists although the main purpose always will be to enable the conservation board to carry out its work. It will be built along the foothills of the Eastern Rockies watershed.

A great deal of the equipment to be used in constructing the road has already been unloaded in Coleman and taken to various points along the proposed route by the local forestry workers under the supervision of Forest Ranger Irvin Frew. The actual number of men who will be employed in constructing the highway is not yet known but the fact that forestry officials are anxious to get a passable road put through this year would indicate that a sizable crew will be working from the Coleman end alone.

One thing is certain, the labor requirements will be more than enough to take up the unemployment slack that has developed during the winter months in the Crow's Nest Pass area.

However, the greatest advantages to Coleman lie in the future when the road has been developed into a first-class tourist attraction as the ultimate plans of the Forest Conservation Board call for an extension of the road south of Coleman to connect the Banff and Waterton National Parks. In the meantime, all sections of the community will be pleased to see the Northern section of the plan being put into effect.

Legion Meets To Plan Extension To Present Club

President Dan Daly Presides Over Special Meeting To Draw Up Initial Plans.

A well attended special meeting of Coleman's Canadian Legion membership was held in the clubroom on Sunday when the members discussed the proposal to extend the present building and carry out the alterations that have been mooted for some months past. With President Dan Daly in the chair, the meeting developed into an interesting and lengthy session as members probed the various proposals to enlarge and modernize the present structure.

Main point at issue was the amount of support the plan would receive from the general membership and it was decided to canvass the members to gather a complete picture of the support forthcoming. A special committee was formed to study the financial situation in connection with the building extension proposals.

Elected to the committee were Adam Wilson, chairman; J. K. Jones, secretary; Dan Daly, Jim Drew, Fred Hurst, Neil Feimling, Tom Turnbull, Jasper Jones, Sam Gillies, E. Kennedy, Pete Meronik and J. Kull. This building committee will canvass all members to get their reaction to a proposal to ask each member to pledge $25 or more to put the plan into operation. All members present were agreed on one point that every effort be made to ensure a first class job, and when the project gets under way.

British Columbia Still In Favor Of South Route

Figures telling of plans of the British Columbia Government to spend $80,000,000 in a highway program this year do not overlook the Southern Trans-Canada highway in the Kootenay country bordering Alberta on the Crow's Nest Pass. In all some $800,000 has been allocated to various sections from Nelson to Crow's Nest. As much of this highway has already been built leaving links to finish, this nearly a million dollars appropriation will go a long way to filling in one gap of the Southern Highway.

As Thomas Love, M.L.A., for Grand Forks-Greenville, told the B.C. Legislature the other day, the building of the Yellowhead or Kicking Horse Pass highways as part of the Trans-Canada would serve few people of that Province as compared to the Southern route. He placed the figure at five to one in favor of the Southern route over either of the northern routes mentioned. This, together with the fact that the completion of the Hope-Princeton road next August will bring Southern British Columbia a couple of hundred miles closer to Vancouver, is an argument which cannot be denied. It would appear quite certain that in spite of all the ballyhoo over the Big Bend as the accepted route of the Trans-Canada, the Crow route must be established as a No. 1 highway to serve the rich interior of Southern B.C. where the population is greater than in any other interior area.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank those who sent cards, flowers and gifts to my mother during the time she spent in the Coleman Hospital; also the Doctors Nursing and general staff for their kind treatment and attention. I would also like to convey my heartfelt thanks to all those who assisted in any way during the bereavement—the pallbearers and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lloyd for the hospitality extended following the burial services.

Last Rites Held For Mrs Edgar Thomas

Had Resided in Coleman for Past 27 Years; Death Followed Lengthy Illness

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Edgar Thomas who passed away following a lengthy illness on Wednesday morning last in the Coleman Miners Union Hospital, were held on Sunday afternoon. A native of Gloucester, England, where she was born in 1872, Mrs. Thomas came to Canada in 1922 settling in Fernie. She remained only two years in the B.C. mining centre before moving to Coleman where she had resided ever since.

In earlier years Mrs. Thomas took an active part in various community activities but impaired vision culminating in total blindness in 1940 had marred her declining years. Her condition became steadily worse and in January of this year she was removed to the Miners Union Hospital. In addition to her husband she is survived by ten children, Bert Garrett, formerly of Coleman, now of Abbotsford, B.C., William, David, Albert, Clarence, Violet, Francis, Harriet, Clarice, Daisy, and Beatrice, all resident in the Old Country.

Two grandchildren, Roy of Mission City, B.C. and Mrs. Rudolph Rezak of Bellevue.

Rev. A. S. Dewdney conducted the services in St. Alban's church in the course of which deceased's favorite hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Aberystwyth" were sung by the congregation. Pallbearers were, Bert Lloyd, William Martland, George Booth, Thomas Lloyd, William Jenkins and Russell Ferguson. Interment was in the Union cemetery.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

WHAT'S PHONY ABOUT LOVE?

Won A Wife And Will Win An Election Besides.

TM CAMPAIGNING for Herby Walters for Governor. Herby had happened. One evening I read the headlines and shouted, "Not Herby Walters for Governor!"

My wife eyed me. "Mr. Walters is running for Governor. His wife is helping him."

"Oh, no," I groaned, "he'll lose sure then."

"What makes you so sure?" Helen asked.

"Didn't I ever tell you that if it wasn't for me Herby wouldn't have a wife?" I asked. "We lived in the same neighborhood. I remember when Herby met Dixie. She came to visit one of the neighbors and Herby was so money over her that they were engaged when she left. Herby never thought Mr. Beaumont wouldn't let his daughter marry a mere back clerk."

"Mr. Beaumont is a wealthy man," Helen said.

"Sure. That's why I made the bet with Herby, when he went on his vacation. I bet him twenty that he couldn't marry the girl while he was there."

Helen smiled. "Well, he married her. So he may win the election."

I leaned back comfortably. "Listen. I met the train when he came back from vacation. He kept babbling about Mr. Beaumont and ran for one of the phones. I just laughed. So he was afraid to tell Mr. Beaumont to his face. Herby fidgeted while he stood waiting for the phone. She met me at the depot, he said, 'and said she could be married right away if I would go and tell her papa. Well, I knew we would have to live on peanuts and I couldn't tell her papa that.'"

"I told him to pay me the twenty. Herby ignored that and said Dixie started to cry. She didn't have any money either. Her papa never let her have any cash. That's how she got in trouble."

"What trouble?" Helen asked.

"That crazy girl went and bought herself an engagement ring so she'd have something to show. She had to buy it for a little down and a little a month and was having trouble in the payments."

"Do you mean to tell me the fashionable Mrs. Walters did that?" Helen gasped.

"That isn't all. Dixie had her papa convinced that Herby was affluent. That pleased Herby and he was ready to speak up to papa. Then Dixie told him that she got the ring from Herby."

"That's all?" Helen asked.

"That's all. Herby was a little bit of a scoundrel, but he was ready to speak up to papa. Then Dixie told him that she got the ring from Herby."

from a character who dealt out from a hotel room. All on the Q.T. He had found out who Dixie was and was demanding the balance. She had the perfect solution. Herby could pay the man, then they could be married.

"Did he?" asked Helen.

"He was willing," I said, "until he found out the balance was two hundred dollars, and he had thirty in his wallet. But he decided to go and stall the guy. The fellow was smooth as wax until Herby mentioned two hundred dollars. The guy smirked something about the girl being mistaken. The balance was four hundred. Okay, you want blood too, Herby said. Then the guy got a mouth full of fist and the ring, too. By that time Herby had to take the train home."

"Oh, dear, and he lost the bet," Helen said.

"Fine," I said, "you don't seem interested in me. Well, Herby was afraid to go to papa and tell him about it because papa would have paddled Dixie and kicked Herby out. But when Herby got home he realized he should have told papa. That's why he was telephoning him. Herby was always an honorable guy."

"What did Mr. Beaumont say?" Helen asked.

"Herby couldn't get him. He got the house and they said Mr. Beaumont was gone. Herby came out of that booth looking as if the crows had picked him. 'Fork over the twenty,' I told him.

"How horrid of you," Helen said.

"Yeah? Just then a big guy grabbed Herby's shoulder. I figured the dealer had sent the detectives after Herby for assault. But the fellow said, 'Good work, young man. Dixie came right home and told me and we got the police after that crook. Now we have one more slicker between her, thanks to you. Of course I know that ring wasn't genuine but I thought...'

Helen leaned forward. "Yes?"

"That made Herby mad. He shouted, 'I love her. What's phony about that?'"

I sighed. "The old man looked stern then held out his hand to Herby. There was a lot of hand-shaking and hugging and Dixie was in the middle of it. Seemed she and the old man grabbed a plane and flew there. Anyway there were blessings and we were on our way to a wedding. Well, my dear, Herby won himself a wife and twenty dollars besides."

"He'll win the election," Helen smiled. "You ought to help him."

"That's how I'm electornering for Herby."

How To Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

I can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you too if you want relief from the itching soreness and burning pain of piles. My Hem-foid treatment is different. Hem-foid is an internal medicine—a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It corrects the conditions (KIDNEY) of your body that cause you such intense pile distress and pain.

But I'll be honest with you. Hem-foid alone to help suffer from hemorrhoids. I want to protect those who are not satisfied. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them as much as they expect it to. If Hem-foid helps you, surely it is worth the small price. (I'll send you to have your money back. I'll take your word. And people are honest about such things. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer. But Hem-foid is an unusual medicine. It has been sold on a refund promise for over 40 years. I am not asked to make many refunds so it must help many folks who use it. At all drug stores.

THRILLS of the ROARIN' GAME

Ken Watson's Rink Proved Worthy Winners Of Macdonald's Brier Coveted Trophy

THE Macdonald's Brier Trophy, emblematic of Canadian curling championship, has once again come back to the West. Ken Watson's rink of Winnipeg's Strathcona Club, defeated Reg. Stone's rink from Trail, B.C., who made a worthy try to take the famous trophy back to British Columbia. Theo, D'Amour of the same B.C. city won the competition last year. Ken has made curling history, as he is the first in the competition's history to pilot a rink to victory three times. He won his two previous Dominion titles at Toronto in 1936 and Quebec in 1942. It marked Manitoba's 12th time in the 20-year history of the championship that a representative from that province has won the trophy.

This year's Canadian classic displayed some brilliant curling which electrified large galleries, who watched ten top-notch curling rinks from across Canada battle it out for supremacy. Popularity of this event has grown to such heights that today the youngest school student to the oldest veteran follows it from day to day. This annual event has been a big factor in bringing about the great interest that is shown in high school curling today. A Dominion title event for high school champions has been recognized by the Dominion Curling Association. Ken Watson's background may be how to find the broom or the weight. They try to make their shots in the slide, instead of making them before the slide starts. They come out riding the rock to keep their balance, or trying to steer it or slow it down or speed it up. They don't realize that if it wasn't going to be a good shot when they came out of the hack—that if they've lost their balance or misjudged the ice or the weight—they haven't got a hope of making it a good shot while they're altogether up to the ice on one foot. The average curler shouldn't try the slide until he's been curling fairly steadily for at least three years."

considered fairly typical of curlers who, after all, come from every walk of life. He was a school teacher for 20 years and in recent years turned to selling insurance. Ken has been curling for 29 years. Started in high school and when in grade 12 he organized the first high school bonspiel.

Watson is famed for his "aiding delivery" in which he slides down the ice after the stone with his nose almost scraping the ice. He warns, however, that the slide, which depends on perfect bodily control and balance, can be a fatal trap for inexperienced curlers.

"It hurts far more curlers than it's helped," he says. "Too many kids try it without understanding what it's meant to do for them—before they've learned to swing a rock perfectly, before they know either ing the result of 29 years of participation in the game:

1. A curler is at his best between 30 and 35 years of age.

2. It's stability—not brilliancy—that counts in curling.

3. It requires 10 years for a man to learn "stability" in curling.

4. After a man passes the age of 35, he learns how to "make his shots do the most work."

5. Team work is all-important. His own rink, which, in addition to himself, is a model of team work, consists of his brother, Grant Watson, Lyle Dyker and Charlie Read.

6. A good rink conserves its strength by "sweeping" only when it is absolutely necessary. Too much sweeping tightens the leg muscles and makes it difficult for a curler to deliver a shot.

7. There is no age limit for curlers. Look at Winnipeg's Howard Wood, who still is winning competitions at 60.

The 1950 Canadian curling championships will be held at Vancouver, first time in the 20-year history of the tournament the Dominion final has been held in British Columbia.

Better Seed

Produces A Better Crop

That better seed will produce a better crop is the one piece of advice that has never changed throughout the ages. The best seed obtainable is Registered Seed, for it has a guarantee of true-ness-to-variety, is of high germination and contains a minimum of impurities.

Seed growers this year have reduced prices to a comparatively low level. This then is a bargain year for farmers to use Registered seed in order to improve the quality of their grain and to obtain the highest possible yield per acre that conditions will permit. The purchase of a few bushels of Registered seed is an investment that will bring to farmers high returns in additional income.

Producers should see their Elevator Agent for supplies of this excellent material at reasonable prices.

MOTOR TAX REVENUES BREAK ALL RECORDS

Motor vehicle owners contributed approximately $11,000,000 to the Alberta government's treasury in the nine months ended Dec. 31 last, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

From motor vehicles, the province obtained $4,733,000 which was an increase of $945,723 over the same period of the previous year.

The "golden egg" however, was the 9c a gallon, gasoline tax which yielded $6,859,000. This was a gain of $790,000 over the similar period of the previous year.

Increased car registrations were responsible for the boost in revenues. On the other hand, the provincial government made increased expenditures during the period on roads and bridges, these amounting in the aggregate to around $11,000,000. For instance, on capital account, there was an outlay of $10,400,000 on roads and bridges which was an increase of $1,628,000 over the same period in the year before.

Officials of the A.M.A. are hopeful that this year will see a further increase in the government's appropriations for road improvements in various sections of Alberta.

ERNIE HOUGHTON, SR. UNDERGOES SERIOUS OPERATION AT VANCOUVER

We learned this week that Ernie Houghton, sr., is recovering slowly in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, following a serious spinal operation he underwent at that institution about three weeks ago. The operation was necessitated to relieve a critical condition that had developed as the result of an accident he suffered at McGillivray mine several years ago.

His condition for a few days after the delicate operation was a matter of grave concern but we are happy to report that he has shown considerable improvement during the past week and his doctors have pronounced him as being definitely out of the danger zone.

SPECIAL HULA NUMBER TO FEATURE BELLEVUE ICE FROLIC

You may not be able to go to the South Seas this winter but Hawaii will be brought to you in the form of eleven gorgeous hula girls in the Bellevue Artificial Ice Arena on the 8th and 9th of April. Dressed in dazzling fluorescent costumes, these girls will present an intricate dance number under the startling effect of black light. June Smealand of Medicine Hat, vivacious artist of the Hula Dance, will be the soloist with a supporting cast of ten members of the Crows Nest Pass Figure Skating Club.

The Easter Parade will take place a few weeks earlier than usual this year when the younger members of the club will give a presentation in an Easter setting. Star of this number will be Miss Claire Goodwin, a first year student of the Crows Nest Club, who is showing great promise. It is expected that this number will steal the show as the youngsters will captivate your hearts and imagination.

PURITY Sweet Buns

... and easy to make at home
Appetizing, satisfying, money-saving! Make up this Purity Flour Sweet Bun dough and in quick time you can have hot buns, fruit buns, spiced buns or iced buns... even fresh.

FRUIT BUNS—Add 1½ cups currants or raisins dredged with flour, before shaping the dough into buns. Just before baking, glaze with a mixture of 1 egg white and 2 tablespoons water.

CINNAMON BUNS—Roll dough out to a long narrow sheet ½ inch thick. Brush with melted butter. Mix 1 cup brown sugar with 1½ teaspoons cinnamon and sprinkle over. Cut into 1 inch slices and place on side down in well-greased muffin tin. Brush tops with milk and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon mixture.

SWEET BUNS—Tested Recipe from the Purity Flour Kitchen—beaten egg, salt, yeast and milk mixture, enough to make a dough soft enough to be kneaded easily. Place dough in a greased bowl and let rise in a warm place (80°-90°F) to rise and shape into buns. Punch down, brush with egg, cover lightly and let rise again in a warm place (80°-90°F) for 20-30 minutes or until light brown. Yield about 3½ dozen rolls.

What a taste thrill... what a thrill to get a recipe that means so much wonderful food for so little money. And this recipe calls for Purity Flour... your favourite, the flour that's specially milled from fine hard wheat, the flour that means successful cakes, pies, cookies or buns, every time, all the time.

YOU NEED ONLY ONE FLOUR

PURITY FLOUR

FOR ONE RESULT—PERFECTION

Purity Flour is the only flour that is milled from fine hard wheat, the flour that means successful cakes, pies, cookies or buns, every time, all the time.

WORLD HAPPENINGS

BRIEFLY TOLD

Boatleggers in high-powered speedboats have been leading a provincial police detachment a merry chase in British Columbia waters.

Two Russian colonels have been executed for embezzlement in the Soviet zone of Germany, the American-censored newspaper Der Abend reported.

Garon N. Vogel of Winnipeg has been appointed assistant director of the wheat and grain division, department of trade and commerce, Trade Minister Howe announced.

An 80-year-old blacksmith in Truro, N.S., who has spent 75 years in the craft does not want to retire on pension. He told employers he was "good for a while yet."

Julius A. Krug, U.S. secretary of the interior, has asked congress for authority to establish lodges, camps, garages and other accommodations for tourists using the Alaska highway.

Radio Moscow said that M. Lysenko, president of the All-Union Academy of Agricultural Sciences, has developed a new type wheat which is expected to yield 10 times more than the present types.

A large part of southern New South Wales recently felt its most severe tremors in many years. Buildings in Sydney were shaken and in Canberra the shocks were the severest ever experienced.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

LUXURIES

By JANE DALE

A tidy room; a cheerful fire;
A fragrant cup of tea;
Crisp golden toast; a loved book
Are luxuries to me.

A quiet chat with some kind friend;
An honest merry jest;
A confidence—a trouble shared
Are luxuries the best.

A peaceful hush at eventide;
An hour of quietude
Are blessings all, so for them Lord,
Accept my gratitude.

COOKING FROZEN EGGS ONE MAJOR PROBLEM

OSHAWA, Ont.—Cooking frozen eggs remains one of the major problems of life in an igloo according to a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. J. Mills from their son with the R.C.A.F. near Churchill. Airman Mills reports a fortune waiting for the person who can cook a northern egg so that it will be a little softer than a bride's biscuit.

The earliest watches had just one hand—the minute hand was invented in 1687.

Know Your Provinces

MANITOBA

Canada's Keystone Province

It is our intention to insert a series of articles in these columns pertaining to our Western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, outlining their natural resources, industrial developments, provincial parks and lake resorts, with a view of acquainting and familiarizing our readers of the vast and wonderful Canadian West.

TODAY Manitoba is a well-developed, populous Province, but only 75 years ago it was on the very rim of civilization—Winnipeg was a few scattered buildings sprinkled on the edge of the prairie, a small fur-trade hamlet isolated in the heart of the continent, living vigorously on the crossroads of the Canadian west.

Before the great sternwheelers plied the Red River and stage coaches rattled over the trails, its mail was carried once a week by horse in the summer and by dog train in the winter to St. Cloud, Minnesota. Soon the railway brought immigrants in thousands to the great western plains and the boom began.

The total area of Manitoba is 246,512 square miles, of which 26,789 square miles is water surface. This is greater than the combined areas of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa. Population—729,744. Rural population—407,871. Urban population—321,873. It has the largest individually owned railway yards and the largest cash grain market in the world.

For decades, in peace and in war, the agricultural industry has been the mainstay of Manitoba's economy. From the first Red River shipment of wheat in 1870—857-1/8 bushels of Red Fife—to the rapid expansion of acreage in wheat from a quarter million acres in 1883 to three and a half million acres in 1921, Manitoba has been called a wheat country, a land of bread and butter. Manitoba's primary staple, each year sees a further broadening of its agricultural base. Dairying, fruit growing, beekeeping, and especially the raising of livestock and poultry are coming into their own.

Manitoba has great water resources. There are six hydro-electric plants in the province, five on the Winnipeg River and one in Northern Manitoba. It possesses one of the largest and most valuable freshwater fisheries in the world. In 1942, the province produced over 46 per cent of Canada's fresh-water commercial catch. The world famous deluge, Winnipeg Goldeye is taken from its waters.

In little more than a decade mining in Manitoba has forged ahead to become a major industry producing an output valued at approximately $10,000,000 annually. The great mines have been the key to northern development. Manitoba's great mining resources have hardly been touched. The northland is awaiting vast new developments. Manitoba has 93,000 square miles of forest area, which give full-time employment to over 6,000 men and even more in the winter time. Many products are handled—hemp, railroad ties, telephone poles from native cedar, box-wood, mining timber, lath and furniture wood.

In Manitoba, the total value of raw furs taken from the wild by five seasons—one-hundred thousand trappers—is constantly increasing and now reaches over two million dollars annually. Each year the taking and marketing of fur continues to expand into one of Manitoba's major industries.

The endless variety of the Keystone Province offers the sportsman and the vacationist passport to every kind of holiday enjoyment. The hunter will discover the finest duck hunting areas on the continent and will enjoy big game hunting and southern Manitoba's fall upland game bird shooting. The angler will find real sport among the teeming streams and lakes of the Whiteshell Provincial Park in eastern Manitoba and in the Pas district in the northern part. Thousands each year enjoy swimming, boating, golfing and other sports and amusement at the popular resorts and beaches on Lake Winnipeg, Riding Mountain National Park, Rock Lake, Lake Killarney and the International Peace Garden.

Manitoba's attractions have been developed into scenic, sport and recreational areas among the finest in Canada.

Propose Oil Drilling Inside Of Edmonton

EDMONTON.—Oil derricks may sprout throughout the City of Edmonton in the near future.

"First application for permission to explore, test and drill for oil within the city limits was made to city council by James E. McGregor, a service station manager.

He seeks rezoning of a quarter section of land within the city limits from agricultural to a classification that will permit the exploitation of the property.

To date council has not set any policy regarding exploration for oil within the city limits.

However, conversations are proceeding between city officials on ways and means of consolidating civic-held mineral rights, and to determine policy as to their development.

Officials said many more applications for permission to explore for oil within the city limits will be made to city council.

The city owns the mineral rights on 75 per cent of Edmonton's 110,000 lots.

Mr. McGregor's application for rezoning is the first made in Edmonton since the discovery of oil in the Edmonton district a little more than two years ago.

Saskatchewan Doctor Carries On In Spite Of Physical Handicap

DR. R. C. MERFIELD has been practicing in the small town of Rocanville, Saskatchewan, for only about eighteen months when he lost his vision at the age of forty-five. This was in 1938, during the depression, and, like most country doctors, he was practically penniless as far as ready cash goes. It can be imagined what mental torture he endured left almost blind, and feeling that it was impossible to carry on. Day after day he sat in his office, scarcely a patient coming in, while his mind went round and round in frustration, trying to visualize what would happen to his wife and daughter, who was still in high school, reports the Braille Courier.

His first little gleam of hope came when he took up typing. He obtained a book of instruction, borrowed a machine and started in. At first it seemed hopeless, but it made many a long winter evening pass surprisingly quickly. After a few weeks, he was surprised to find that he was really making headway. It gave him a little confidence to realize that he was not too old to learn a new thing. "About this time," says Dr. Merfield, "I first became acquainted with the CNIB. This opened up a great vista of new opportunities. I obtained a book of instruction in Braille reading. Learning by myself proved a great struggle, but I could not devote enough time to it to warrant having a home teacher come to stay with us. As in the case of typing, it gradually came to me, and this again gave me a feeling of confidence. It has been a lifesaver being able to read once again."

During the first two years after he lost his sight, Dr. Merfield's practice was almost nil. In 1941 a turning point came when he moved his office into his home. From this time on things began to improve. Patients began to have more confidence, and his practice grew. Dr. Merfield maintains that a great deal of the credit for this goes to his wife, who became his assistant as soon as he set up his office at home. She informs him, for example, what the needle registers when he is taking blood pressures, she takes thermometer readings and, of course, drives him in the car and accompanies him on all calls. She has been his only nurse on many occasions when he was attending a maternity case out in the country.

Regarding the actual practice, Dr.

Merfield admits that there are some things he used to do, such as surgery, which he cannot do now. He points out, however, that in ordinary medical cases, seventy per cent of the points of evidence, upon which a diagnosis is based, comes through a good history from the patient. Another twenty per cent comes from the physical examination, in which all doctors rely to a large extent on what they hear through the stethoscope and feel through palpitation. The other 10 per cent is learned from X-ray and other laboratory tests.

"In the case of an obscure internal disease one's eyes may not help at all," he says. "One can also get some evidence through the eyes of one's nurse. I try to do every bit of work just as carefully as possible. I have to check and re-check. I cannot take as great a chance as the sighted doctor, for the public is naturally afraid that the blind person may make a mistake."

Dr. Merfield believes that in some degree he has added acuteness to his other senses since the loss of sight. He recalls that on some occasions he has become aware of a tumor or internal mass through the sense of touch, where sighted doctors have not felt them. He has been told by doctors in Regina, where his most difficult cases go, that his diagnosis has proven correct in as many instances as with sighted doctors.

While he is humble about his own achievement in carrying on his practice despite his handicap, Dr. Merfield is justly proud that he has been able to give his daughter a full course in Arts at the University of Manitoba, and following this, a course in Social Science. He is full of encouragement to others who have lost their sight in adult life and feel that the outlook is hopeless.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE BOOKS MUST BE RENEWED

EMPLOYERS!—Please send all unemployment insurance books immediately to the National Employment Office with which you deal, unless renewal arrangements have already been made.

They must be exchanged for new books before March 31st. The new books have spaces for March contributions, so you can renew the old ones before the end of the month.

Renewal of books is important to you, to your employees and to the Commission. Please Act Promptly.

TO THE INSURED WORKER!—Have you an insurance book in your possession? If so, please take or send it to the nearest National Employment Office for renewal before March 31st. If you send your book, enclose your present address so that your new book may be returned to you promptly.

POSTSCRIPT ON THE COMMERCIAL HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Journal has received many complaints during the past few weeks over the scarcity of news concerning the Commercial Hockey League. Our patient reminder that the League had wound up in a blaze of glory several weeks ago only met with retorts that we write something about the weird characters who starred in these Sunday afternoon excursions into the realms of miracles and massacres.

One suggestion was that we nominate an All-Star team on the basis of the all-round abilities of the various performers but we had to discard that idea because disabilities were the main feature of the games! One fan sent in the following All-Star Line-up: Goal: Sonny "Turk" Richards (Board of Trade); Aldo "Low Voltage" Montalbetti (Board of Trade) and Maurice "Cannonball" Cooke (Legion); Centre, "Delicate Dan" Daly (Legion); wings, "Dry Good" Nicholas (Board of Trade) and "Jolting Joe" Wavrean (Elks).

All were in agreement over the selection of the All-Star coach Jack "Happy Day" Rush-ton was the unanimous choice on the basis of his ability to handle a team by remote control! The vision of Jack coaching the Elks from a spot six inches from the heater in the dressing room still lurked in our memories and any coach capable of doing that is the right man for the arduous task of keeping such spirited characters as "Cannonball" Cooke and "Low Voltage" Montalbetti under control.

Interviewed at his favorite "restaurant" recently, Cooke merely snarled when we informed him of his selection to the All-Star squad. Twisting his face into that dirty leer that frightened more than one incoming forward during the season, he snorted, "Da Bums gotta respect an All-Star when dey meets up wid one—all dey met me when dey met me".

Other members of the All-star squad expressed their appreciation of the great honour bestowed upon them—all that is with the cautious exception of "Blank Cheque" Nicholas who wanted to know who was going to foot the bill for having their pictures taken. On being informed that little detail would be taken care of, Nicholas immediately demanded that he be given the centre seat when the infamous group gathers to put a severe strain on the best camera in town.

In the meantime, those enraged stars who did not make the All-Star team are reminded that the selection was made by an individual who promptly left town to avoid the wrath to come. All complaints will be taken care of by "Dingle" Daly who thoroughly agreed with the selection, particularly the culprit's nomination of the League's outstanding centre man!
